

Insights

IPS-Sendero MPC takes complexity out of budgeting and planning

Corporate performance management helps streamline, enhance the process

Simplicity is a virtue when you're in the middle of the budgeting and planning process. But it doesn't come easy if you're forced to rely on multiple software applications.

That's especially true when those applications have a sizeable learning curve. No one wants to struggle through arduous self-training or constantly hunt down members of IT for help.

IPS-Sendero offers a corporate performance management solution that gets the job done simply and effectively. IPS-Sendero MPC helps you develop departmental budgets with ease.

IPS-Sendero MPC streamlines your strategic planning, forecasting, financial consolidation, management reporting and analysis. It's easy to track the process via the web and share your analysis with the entire organization.

With IPS-Sendero MPC, financial institutions expand the functionality of IPS-Sendero's profitability suite and Asset/Liability (A/L) system for powerful results.

North Fork Bank in Melville, N.Y., recently completed the installation phase. A $60 billion institution, North Fork has 300 concurrent users on IPS-Sendero MPC.

"We're excited to further our partnership with North Fork by providing a web-enabled budgeting application for them," said Mark Heys, vice president and national sales manager for IPS-Sendero. "They will have a tool that enables them to widely distribute the budget, enter budget projects each year and handle detailed budget reports."

IPS-Sendero MPC helps the users at North Fork Bank come up to speed fast with templates, wizards and point-and-click functionality. System administrators can put their complete confidence in the solution's multidimensional security that limits access to sensitive information.

Because hundreds of users can view data at once, you cut down on email, mailings and physical visits to locations. Executives and finance professionals will find the solution intuitive and complete with drill-down capabilities.

You can deal with complex organizational changes — restructuring, mergers, and acquisitions — quickly and easily. The whole process becomes smooth. The accurate results from IPS-Sendero MPC underline useful business intelligence that can help your bottom line.